

Component Repair Amsterdam

Position: Operational Buyer

Location: Hoofddorp The Netherlands

The Material Planning & Procurement Team

The Operational Buyer is part of the Material Planning & Procurement team (MPP). Teaming up with colleagues, dealing with Sales, Client Services, reporting directly to Vadim Vinogradov, Director Procurement and Customer Service.

The Operational Buyers' procurement package includes all aircraft-related parts and miscellaneous items for operational needs. For procurement, the technical manual is leading (each manufacturer works with a unique number established within aviation regulations). The challenge lies in purchasing as cheaply as possible with the best delivery time (in line with the contracts issued and the applicable requirements).

You are responsible for

- Requesting and assessing quotations, selecting, and placing orders;
- Making price agreements with existing and potential suppliers;
- Conducting negotiations;
- Assessing suppliers;
- Capture of procurement-related data;
- Preparing visit reports.

You have

- Education at HBO level, preferably supplemented by operational and technical knowledge of aviation and aircraft systems.
- You do not have "9 to 5 mentality" and can remain calm and productive under stress.
- You are a "spider in the web", keep things under control.
- You find it rewarding to get the best quotation taking into account contract agreements, lead time, price, availability etc.
- You are constantly looking for ways to make things better.
- You are prepared to quickly learn how to use our IT systems, understand our internal processes and quality standards.
- We work as one, so you are a true team player and an excellent communicator.
- You have attention to details and can organize your work efficiently.
- Previous experience in aerospace is not a must but is desirable.
- Language skills: Excellent English skills is a must, Dutch is desirable.
